School Students Springing for Support! by Ms. Layne

“March Madness” term is generally used to describe college basketball teams, in which 65 teams compete to win the National College Athletic Association. This expression reminds me of St. Benedict the Moor students challenging themselves with other district and state-wide students with assessment tests. Currently, kindergartners thru grade 5 are testing in the month of “March Madness” with the IOWA test. These standardized tests basically analyzes a student’s school progress with other Ohio school students.

With the support of family, staff, and school community student hopes for a successful test result. By keeping a positive spirit it helps to provide self-confidence. Parents/guardians please make sure that your child is receiving proper rest and nourishment in order to help his/her concentration. All students are champions when they attempt to do their best. Let’s encourage them to stay uplifted.
